Contents

Cok Bakker and Ina ter Avest Time to Contextualise RE From the Perspective of 'Time'
Peter Schreiner
Religious Education in Transition
Geir Skeie
Religious education research – does it prepare us for the future? 47
Julia Ipgrave
The Impact of Time on Religious Practice and Belief in the Experiences and Perceptions of Young People from the United Kingdom 73
Olga Schihalejev
Religion in fifty years: Predictions and dreams of young people 101
Carsten Gennerich
Future orientation and hope in relation to values: Implications for adolescents' religious meaning-making
Dr. Edwin van der Zande
Life Orientation: A Reflective Interruption in Professionalisation
Bas van den Berg
Surprising Encounters. Primary School Pupils Co-Create Meaning and Sense in Dialogue with Biblical Source Narratives
Silke Leonhard
Recollection, transition, interruption: The temporal impact of religious celebrations in the public school system
Caroline Gustavsson
Vulnerability as a quality in the classroom and research in religious education
Karin Sporre, Olof Franck, Annika Lilja and Christina Osbeck
Ethics education in Swedish RE – and future content for ethics education in compulsory school 195

Kåre Fuglseth
Between Past and Future in Religious Education. The Categorical Answer 209
Ömer F. Gürlesin
Transformation of Friday Sermons in an Era of Nationalism.
Functionalisation of Religion in Turkey and the Netherlands,
Now and in a Challenged Future
Ina ter Avest
Time Passes. An Exploration of Biographies of First-Generation Guest Workers' Wives and the interwovenness with the Narratives of their (Grand-)Children
Siebren Miedema
On Time. Continuity and Necessary Changes in Religious Education.
An Epilogue
Authors